Most men need to shave every day and doing so irritates the skin.

Facials can break that vicious cycle of shaving and irritating the skin. Regular skincare will calm and soothe the skin, which makes it less likely to get irritated at the next shave, improving the cycle. Getting regular facials helps your skin heal and maintain its texture and tone.

Even with a beard or mustache, facials are still an option for men. The skin under the hair will still receive the benefits from the steam and the massage. Afterward, beards can be conditioned to stay manageable and looking well kept.
